LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Hey bestie, is everything going okay? Did you have time to go to the beach and have a beach episode? Well do so now before it gets cold outside. Then again people do go swimming at the beach when it's cold out. I won't tell you what to do. But I will tell you this. It's artist appreciation month!

I know, I know. You can't contain your excitement, neither can I. And I can already read your mind on who your favorite artists are, hmmm let me guess...uh...the...Clown Soup group? I'm so good at this.

Oh...what's that? You just love supporting us, reading our mag zine, commissioning and hiring our artists, telling your friends about us, sharing our posts and links on social media, and you can't get enough of our content. Aw you're too kind.

But I'm serious, don't be afraid to show your love for Clown Soup, we love you guys (so say it back) <3

As I mentioned in the previous issue we've been falling behind on deadlines. We're practically a month behind releases. This isn't ideal but here's how I see it: as long as Clown Soup is in production and is up and running, it doesn't matter how long it takes because you know we're always here to provide good soup. No matter how long it takes for the soup to broil there is always fresh ingredients being prepared for the sake of Clown Soup. We all have our own clown lives tending to our serious clown jobs, tending to our large clown families, keeping a circus over our head, taking care of our clown mental health, it's quite exhausting just existing as a clown. I don't know how you humans do it. I'm just happy to keep clown soup running.

In case you forgot, my new year's goal was to start a monthly publication with my artist group (see pg 47 in the January edition) And it actually brings tears to my eyes to see how far we've gotten. I was so scared that we'd give up and forget about Clown Soup after February or something, but we persevered. I want to give a HUGE round of applause for the Clown Soup artists because without them there would be no art to see. Clown Soup is not a one man band, it's an artist collective that makes art for the sake of making. That's the beauty of Clown Soup. We are self-sustained in producing art. We're like a never ending bowl of soup, I just love it.

Anyways we hope you enjoy this month's publication with the theme "Artist Appreciation" that is merely just a guide for inspiration. Until next month babe!
